I like to play football because my favorite team is the tigers. My favorite team is the tigers because they score a lot of points. They throw the ball to score touchdowns. They also tackle people very well. I watched a game and the tigers threw the ball over the opponent's head for the game winning touchdown. The tigers won a gold medal. I wish I could be on the team so I could have a gold medal. I saw another game in which the tigers lost to the bears. They played the bears again and beat them. I like to watch football it is my favorite sport.

Boom! Do you have a favorite sport? I do. My favorite sport is football. My reasons for liking football so much are; it's awesome, I can run down the field, and I can be the quarterback. Here it is. My first reason football is my favorite sport is because it's awesome. Football is awesome because I can intercept the ball from the other team. If I can intercept the slippery wood brown ball, that will be good for my team. I'll intercept the football like Randy Moss catches passes for the Patriots. That is my first reason why football is my favorite sport, because it is awesome. My next reason why football is my favorite sport is because I can run down the field and make a touchdown. If I can make a touchdown my team and I could gain more points than the other team. I could run all the way down the 100 yard field and score a touchdown! "Touchdown" goes my fans! Of course I have a lot of fans. In short football is my favorite sport because I can be the quarterback. I wanted to be a quarterback for a long time. In the quarterback position I obtain the ball and I throw it to my wide receivers that go up the field and get open. I am going to be a good quarterback like Peyton Manning. That's why football is my favorite sport. It's awesome, I could intercept the ball, and I can be quarterback.

I'm a super hero. I have to save a hamster in the desert. So, I fly and break my window. Then in front of me was an elderly man. I flew around him. I flew over a sky scraper and there was a super villain. I had nothing to defend myself so I let out a screeching yell! The villain passed out and I flew away. Then a plane which was carrying more of the villain's friends was in my way so I let out another screeching yell. The yell broke the windows and the pilot and all the passengers passed out. The plane was heading for an innocent city, but it crashed and caught on fire missing the innocent city. Finally, I reached the desert and saw my arch rival waiting for me. His name was Obeton Flatcobi and he had a friend with him named General Peeus. Obeton Flatcobi had a light saber so I used the screeching yell. I took the light saber tied both General Peeus and Obeton Flatcobi up and I rescued the hamster.

Arf! Once upon a time in a movie there was a super hero named Amber. Her favorite dog Callie was in trouble! It all started when Amber was saving the world, when she heard her dog crying for help! Callie was stuck in the sewer. When she got there Callie was already in the sewer water! Amber raced down there like a rocket. She couldn't get Callie because the water was flowing. She thought it was the end of Callie, but what would you know! Callie swam back to Amber! They were united! That's the time that I imagined that I was a super hero in a movie and I had to rescue my favorite pet.

Once upon a time there lived a brave super hero. One day his arch nemesis got blasted to planet of the bubble heads. He said, "I will have my revenge." As long as I'm Raisin Man I will get you Captain Knows A Lot. Meanwhile, Captain Knows A Lot saw a monkey fall from a tower. "I think it was pushed" he said as he went fast as he could to save the falling monkey. Pow, ah umm. "That's good" he said with the monkey safe in his arms. After the monkey was safe, Captain Knows A Lot encountered Raisin Man. "My arch enemy ummm" said Captain Knows A Lot. Victorious over Raisin Man. Raisin Man is a real raisin, get'em boy. Was that the end of Raisin Man? It's a lot of raisins in the public café. I'll be ready for him, he is just a raisin. Ha ha ha. Oh no, it's my other arch enemy Book Head.... To be continued...
