I can fly! It all started one cool Saturday morning at school. I had just come from Mr. Sheldon's class. I was walking down the hallway when suddenly a person crashed through the window. I thought he was in an accident. I said to myself, "things are getting weird, I better get home." When I got home I immediately sat down and watched my favorite movie, Wonder Dogs. I was sitting down watching my favorite movie and enjoying myself, when suddenly I was sucked into the movie. Everything in the movie looked the same except me. I'm a dog. Hey, don't scream, you will hurt my dog ears. I said to myself, "hey, if I am going to be locked in a three dimensional world, I'm glad it is in my favorite movie." After that thought, I popped out of the movie as fast as a bird finding seeds. Now you know what it was like to be sucked into a movie. Tip, never get sucked into a three dimensional movie, unless it is your favorite movie.

Here's a story about a dog. My dog saved me once. It all started on a Saturday. I was fishing all by myself when I caught a huge fish. I almost fell in the pond, but my dog caught me. Next, it was time for me to save my dog. One day when I was playing with my kittens my dog started barking. A man was messing with her puppies. I ran and jumped on him. Boom boom, we fell and giggled! It was just my dad. I wanted to be a hero! The End!

There was a fire and a little puppy was in the house. I flew to the house. I ran through every room to find the puppy. It was under a bed. I picked up the bed with my super strength and grabbed the puppy. I flew out of the burning house with the puppy. The puppy was safe. The house had another animal in it. I ran as fast as I could. I heard the kitty. When I got to the kitty, there was my arch enemy holding the kitty. He said, "hello hero." "Let that animal go" I said. "I'll just throw the cat in the fire" said my enemy. I jumped and kicked him. I got the kitty and flew out of the house. I gave the kitty to a man outside the house. "I'll be back I have something to take care of" I said. I flew back into the house. I overtook the enemy and flew back out of the burning house to safety.

I am Cat woman and I like to play with other cats. I like to climb trees with my sharp claws. Have you ever seen my movie? If you did, have you seen me when I was climbing up the walls? Every time I go somewhere like to save someone I put on my costume. When I realized I was Cat woman I cut my hair and painted my face. Sometimes when I go out on my adventures and come back home I can't remember anything. When I wake up I eat cat food. One day I was locked in a room and I got out by using my super strength. When I escaped I jumped out of the window and landed on my feet on top of a car. I jumped off the car and went home.

In brief, I will give you the best explanation on why I want to be a different age. The age I really want to be is 20. The three reasons I want to be 20 is that you get a car, hang out with friends, and go to birthday parties. To begin, my first reason is that you have a car. The car I want is a BMW. I want a car because you can drive anywhere you want by yourself. Most of all you can out designs on it. Hold on to your seats it gets thrilling. Furthermore, my second reason is that you can hang out with friends. My friends and I would do lots of things together. We would listen to music, go to the movies, and play games. We also would make up our own things like races in swimming, on bikes, scooters, and motorcycles. We would have challenges like walking on a tight rope over a pot full of tacks and nails or walking on black burning rocks barefooted with an egg on a spoon. You've come one step closer to understanding why I want to be 20. Ultimately, my last reason why I want to be 20 is that you get to go to birthday parties. You get to go to lots of people's parties. Like birthday parties, graduation parties, going away to college parties and welcome back parties. I would love going to any parties to see friends on weekends instead of just seeing my friends only in school. I hop my explanation on why I want to be 20 paints a clear picture.

I will now elaborate on why I want to be 17. The three top reasons are; I can drive, I can get a cell phone, and go shopping with my friends. For starters, the reason why I want to be 17 is because I can drive. When I drive my car it is going to be a pink escalade. I would love to be 17. If you like my first explanation you will love what comes next. Furthermore, the next reason why I want to be 17 is because I can get a cell phone. When I get my cell phone it is going to be a blackberry. It is going to be bubbly blue. I hope you understand why I want to be 17. Ultimately, the last reason why I want to be 17 is because I can go shopping with my friends. When I go shopping we will get clothes
